

MY TOWN

London's markets

There are a lot of interesting markets in London.

CAMDEN MARKET is very popular with young people and tourists. It's always open except on Christmas Day. It's good for vintage clothes, designer clothes, bags, belts and accessories. There are lots of cafés and stalls with food from all over the world.

PORTOBELLO ROAD MARKET is over two hundred years old and is famous for antiques. It sells really good music, designer and vintage clothes and also antiques. It's very busy on Saturdays but it's closed on Sundays.

BRICK LANE MARKET is open on Sunday mornings. It's in an area of London where a lot of Asian people live. You can find beautiful clothes, accessories, jewellery, spices, tea and coffee. You can also try some Indian, Japanese or Chinese food.
